Scott was abandoned by his parents in a monastery at the tender age of 4. A subdued child, he was raised by the monks as one of their own, and became one of the most promising students of the monastery. In his twenties, Scott fell madly in love with one of the locals. He began seeing them secretly, but after a year he was found out, and locked up. When he was finally released, he found his lover's house in cinders, their lover's body hanging from a nearby tree with the word "Witch" etched on their forehead.

Faits marquants: - Scott's tragic love left him with a horrific memory - During his time in lock-up, Scott experienced the Temple's idea of penance. The abuse left him with thick back scars that make sustained physical effort harder.
